1. Steps To Receive Academic Credit for Your Internship
2. WMST 386 Syllabus
3. WMST 386 Learning Contract

Students should:

1. Read carefully the WMST386 syllabus and meet with the Internship Liaison, as early in the process of selecting an internship site as possible but in all cases before completing the Learning Contract in order to determine if the internship site and the expected duties there are compliant with the requirements for WMST386 as well as to begin the process of obtaining a faculty mentor.
2. Once the student has confirmed that the site and anticipated duties are in line with the goals of an academic internship, the student should meet with their Site Supervisor to discuss the Learning Contract.
3. A Learning Contract signed by the site supervisor is then provided to the Faculty Mentor and together the student and mentor determine a schedule of meetings and assignments for the semester.
4. The Learning Contract must be signed by the Site Supervisor, the Faculty Mentor, and the Internship Liaison, before permission is granted to register for WMST386.
5. Throughout the semester, at intervals agreed upon with the Faculty Mentor, the student should submit a record of hours worked and at the end of the semester at a time agreed upon with the Faculty mentor but in any case no later than the last day of finals, the student should submit to the Faculty Mentor a record of hours worked which has been signed by the Site Supervisor.
6. Additionally, at the completion of the internship hours, but no later than the last day of finals, the student should submit to the Faculty Mentor the Internship Evaluation.
7. At the completion of the internship hours, the Internship Liaison will consult with the Site Supervisor to get an evaluation of the student's work and will submit that evaluation to the Faculty Mentor.
8. The Faculty Mentor will determine the grade for WMST386 based on the completion of the scholarly work requirements and taking into account the evaluation of the site supervisor.

WMST386: Experiential Learning: Internship

(1-6 credits)

Experiential Learning Coordinator/Internship Liaison: Dr. JV Sapinosa – sapinosa@umd.edu

Eligibility Requirements: Junior standing or higher.

Course Description and Goals:

WMST386 is designed to provide students with the opportunity to combine theory and practice and get hands on experience with specific women's/gender/sexuality issues in a workplace or organizational setting. The course has two components: work at the internship setting developing practical skill sets applicable to that environment and work with a Faculty Mentor to prepare readings and/or research that provide a framework to think about the internship experience and an opportunity to reflect on the pragmatic and political issues associated with the work of the particular organization.

Students will:

Demonstrate the ability to apply knowledge of women's/gender/sexuality studies to practical and professional experiences outside the classroom.

Evaluate the ways in which the internship site supports and/or challenges assumptions/theories within the fields of women's/gender/sexuality studies.

Demonstrate critical thinking skills in developing and refining over the term a set of learning objectives for their internship experience and, at term end, cogently analyzing the activities done in the internship.

Gain professional experiences and skills to further personal goals.

Course Policies:

The Women's Studies Department allows students to take 1-6 credit hours of internships. The number of credits depends on the number of hours at the internship site and in work with the Faculty Mentor.

| NUMBER OF CREDITS EARNED | MINIMUM HOURS AT INTERNSHIP SITE | MINIMUM HOURS CONSULTING WITH FACULTY SPONSOR, RESEARCHING & WRITING | TOTAL HOURS |

It is the responsibility of the student to identify an internship site and set up their internship. The department maintains a list of possible internship sites and the Internship Liaison is available to talk with students about possible placements and to help in preparing for an internship interview.

Please note: Among the important benefits of an internship are the student's observations of a worksite and development of the interpersonal skills necessary to such a setting. As such, students can only earn hours while working at an official actual or sponsored work site. As such, hours cannot be earned remotely or by working from home; only in very rare circumstances will this stipulation be waived. Students are also not permitted to work in a private residence with a home office, etc.

Student internships must be approved by the Internship Liaison in Women's Studies who will assist in finding an appropriate Faculty Mentor for the internship course. An internship course will be approved only if a Faculty Mentor is available.

Students, in consultation with their Site Supervisor and Faculty Mentor, must complete an Internship Learning Contract, laying out the specific objectives of work with the organization and of the scholarly component of the course. Internship Learning Contracts must be approved by the Internship Liaison before the student registers for WMST386.

The Faculty Mentor and student will consult to devise a plan of study appropriate to the internship site and the student's interest; this will include devising a set of readings or a research plan that enhances the student's understanding of their work at the internship site and that enables the student to connect scholarship in women's/gender/sexuality studies with the work at the internship site.

Students are expected to maintain regular contact with the Faculty Mentor, meeting face-to-face if possible at least once a month, and turning in as required all work assigned.

All internship courses require the student to complete a final project; the exact form of this project will be determined in consultation with the Faculty Mentor and may include a written report, a formal public presentation, or other as appropriate. In some circumstances where the work with the internship organization includes development of a project (a film, a substantial report, a tour guide brochure, etc.), that may be submitted along with a written or oral explanation of the ways that the semester's readings/research have contributed to this project.

Students are required to maintain a log of hours worked each week at the internship site and specific duties assigned at the site for each week. Students are encouraged to complete internships by the last day of classes; hours must be completed by the end of final exams in the academic period the student is registered for the internship course. This Internship Hours Time Log should be presented to the Faculty Mentor throughout the semester at agreed upon intervals and a final signed Internship Time Log should be submitted by the end of finals week. Note: hours worked does not include commute time.

The Site Supervisor will provide a midterm and final assessment of the student's work at the internship site.

The student should complete by the end of finals week a Women's Studies Internship Evaluation form.

The final grade in the internship course will be determined by the Faculty Mentor, taking the assessment of the Site Supervisor into account.

Students with Disabilities

Students requiring specific academic accommodations should contact the Internship Liaison with the appropriate documentation from DSS before the end of the "drop/add" period for the semester. See www.counseling.umd.edu/DSS

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the foundation of scholarship and the policies will be strictly enforced. Any indication of academic dishonesty (including but not limited to cheating, plagiarism and falsification) will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct (www.shc.umd.edu).

Department of Women's Studies
Internship Learning Contract (WMST386)

The Internship Learning Contract is a mutual understanding among the student, the Internship Site Supervisor, and the Department (via the Faculty Sponsor). The purpose of this agreement is to allow the student to establish, in conjunction with the supervisor, prior to the start of the Internship, a plan for the duration of the Internship experience.

The goal of the internship is to enhance the learning experience. This document provides a basis for students to discuss with supervisors the opportunities for learning that an organization can provide. The Internship Learning Contract assists the intern in making a meaningful contribution to the work of the Internship site/organization, as well as setting goals to continue professional growth and development.
